From Nazi Camp Amazing Saga Of Ill-Fated Escape Is Told

By ROSS MUNKO
LONDON, Sept. 15.—(CP)—New shipping problems, affecting the North Atlantic run, have arisen as a result of demands for shipping in the far east and they may result in a temporary slowdown of Canadian repatriation, it was learned today.

Because of the unexpected changes in shipping allocations, it was anticipated that there may be a hiccup in repatriation which would delay some troops who expected to be home in October or November.

The new situation, which arose suddenly in the past few days, alters a forecast made by officials here early this week that September and October would probably be the biggest months yet for the repatriation of Canadian prisoners of war.

In Battle of Britain

Mistake Cost Reich War

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(Reuters)—The Germans, by failing to deliver a knockout blow to Southern England during the 1940 made a mistake which cost them the war, the Air Ministry said last night on the 15th anniversary of the RAF victory in the Battle of Britain.

In September, 1940, the RAF fighter command was barely hanging on for 300 to 400 replacement aircraft. The Luftwaffe, however, seriously wounded to be replaced by 200 untried replacements.

Due to Strikes

Due to strikes in the Luftwaffe, the replacement aircraft were not available in the numbers needed to replace the losses.

DETROIT, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Ford Motor Company said yesterday that because of strikes against "many of our suppliers" it was laying off 50,000 men indefinitely.

The company said in a statement: "After several weeks operations in the face of crippling and unauthorized strikes against many of our suppliers, we have been forced to lay off 50,000 men."

INFORMATION CONSIDERED

"We have considered all angles of the situation. We wanted to keep men at work. We had hoped that by this time we would be hiring more men. Instead we are telling 50,000 of our employees to stay off their jobs indefinitely."

Units of First Division Start For Dominion

This Field Battery, RCA, bound for the Canadian Forces, will be the first of the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, bound for Winnipeg.

OTHERS TO LEAVE

Headquarters said other units of the division group are expected to follow from the United Kingdom in "rapid order."

It is believed another troopship will be leaving the United Kingdom in about a week which will carry 1st Division Group personnel almost exclusively, including several infantry battalions and a number of field and anti-tank batteries and engineer companies.

Names and destinations of the units and other information will not be available, however, until the ship sails and full details are released from England, headquarters added.

Similarly, date of arrival of units at home destinations in Canada could not be forecast until actual arrival of troopships on this side of the Atlantic.

COMPLETE UNIT

The only other complete unit returned to Canada was the 1st Canadian Parachute Battalion.

A defence department spokesman said that homebound units of the 1st Canadian Division Group did not mean abandonment of the point-to-point system by which men with long service get home first.

The spokesman said it was his understanding that if any men who had been overseas only a few days and thus had low point scores were among the division units, they would be left behind in England until all the high-priority men had been brought home.

Calgary Board of Trade, said that unless a hard-surfaced Trans-Canada highway was built Canada stood to lose her favorable balance of trade and economic world position through the loss of tourist traffic.

"The people of the United States want to come to Canada," he said. "They have been to Florida, to California, to their own tourist attractions, and inquiries from their motor clubs show that as soon as they can they will come north. We must have highways and other services ready for them, and now is the time to do it."

No Expiry Date On Meat Coupons Now Being Used

making "change" on coupons if a purchaser did not want to buy the whole value of the coupon at once.

The spokesman pointed out in connection with the request for removal of cooked meats from the ration, that Finance Minister Flaherty had said in the House of Commons that there might be an adjustment of coupon values in regard to meat trimmings from which most cooked meats, such as soups and sausage, are made.

The spokesman added he expected the situation on cooked meats would be taken up at a meeting here next Wednesday between the meat trade and the prices board yesterday.

SEES NO OPPOSITION TO FEEDING HUNGRY

OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—(CP)—

Consent of some features of the meat rationing program by livestock producers cannot be taken to indicate opposition to Canada's war share in feeding the hungry people of Europe, nor opposition to any other plan, H. H. Hannan, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said yesterday in a statement.

"Farm people realize just as fully as any other group of citizens that Canada has a definite responsibility to aid in the food program for the liberated countries of Europe and they are quite ready to make necessary sacrifices," the statement said.

"The basis of criticism of the present plan by livestock producers is the fact that, with the cattle population at its highest point in history, the capacity of packing houses and the efficiency of the export machinery of the country is not such as to do the job that it has to do, without serious losses to the producers."

Minister Declines Any Elaboration On Wheat Price

OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—(CP)—

Trade Minister MacKinnon said yesterday he understood the Canadian wheat board had recently sold certain quantities of wheat for export at $1.35 a bushel, nine cents higher than the previously fixed price of $1.46.

Russia Seeks More Control Of Dardanelles

By FLORA LEWIS

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(AP)—A reliable report that the Soviet Union has made territorial demands in the Mediterranean area considerably beyond anything the United States and Britain had anticipated was widespread in diplomatic quarters here today as an indication of Russia's determination to become a Mediterranean power.

The Soviet proposals raise questions about the future of the strategic Dardanelles straits through which the Black Sea connects with the Aegean Sea and passing the approaches to the Dardanelles.

Surprising move. The report of the surprising Russian move came shortly before the council issued a communique announcing that a conference was being held in London to discuss the Dardanelles, which would have to be asked to submit in writing their peace treaty proposals.

The Russians are demanding increased control of the Dardanelles, which belong to Turkey. It is reported that they are suggesting the internationalization of the straits by powers on the Black Sea shores—Russia, Romania, Bulgaria and Turkey.

The Big Five foreign ministers were scheduled to meet again this afternoon and may hold another session Sunday.

Iniquitous Tax Structure

The present tax structure of Canada, stubbornly maintained for so long, is a source of iniquity by the Hon. J. L. Hiley, is a tragic drag upon the progress of this country. It is a conglomeration of unscientific and unprincipled measures, which have the ambition of young men and condemning them to perpetual economic slavery.

This fact is clearly recognized by employers of labor, by thoughtful economists and by all who are not bigoted partisans of the crackpot "sound money" fetish whose chief exponent in the House of Commons is the same Mr. Hiley.

The great loss this country is suffering through the obsolete tax structure is evident everywhere. The tax on overhead costs of the financial sector is a burden on those who have low incomes, has cost Canada hundreds of millions in real wealth annually.

The weight of taxation is choking out small town industry and especially family businesses at a pitiful rate. The big fellows in the financial sector are getting their share in bargain prices. And the only way the present owners can get enough cash on hand to pay estate and succession taxes is to sell out, thus passing the family industries, which have long been the backbone of the country, are rapidly passing into the hands of speculators—a fatal blow.

The taxation structure almost forbids industrial extension or the establishment of new industries. The tax on business success, taxes take the lion's share. If it is a failure, the owner shoulders all the loss. The present tax system places such a severe handicap on initiative that capable and sincere people who would like to help develop the country's business are left standing on the sidelines.

And through all this desperate situation, Mr. Hiley warns the public not to expect too much from the tax changes in his coming budget.

The truth is that Mr. Hiley, dangerous Tory reactionary that he is, has done more to weaken the Liberal party than any other man in this country. He has done only purchasing power can make a people prosperous and a country rich. Of what use is it for a government to gather in taxes, just to pass them on to the people when the public's consequent inability to buy stifles industry and commerce and wastes down the national wealth?

Canada's department of finance has never been a democratic arm of government. It has never been even a public utility. It is a department of the government of the financial interests or, as a columnist puts it, "the Charlie McCarthy of the financiers."

Mr. Hiley has intensified this unholo tradition. Instead of freeing the national credit—the interest-free funds of the Bank of Canada—to finance low rental housing, etc., as he has promised, he has Canada's war plants, he is interested only in continuing a discredited and ruinous monetary system.

The Rationing Protest

A meeting of Edmonton butchers has decided to close up shop on September 24 unless meat rationing is withdrawn.

It would be difficult to find a protest resolution has been taken in any spirit of petty spite or temporary irritation. Doubtless a certain weight of public opinion is behind the protest which has been organized to undertake such a drastic step. Admittedly the bookkeeping involved in meat rationing is excessive. It is probably true that some waste is made inevitable.

Nor is this protest of exclusively local origin. All over Canada, butchers have organized or are talking of taking similar action.

Unfortunately what is involved in this protest is not meat rationing alone, but the entire system of controls. Those who claim that meat rationing is not essential may have the shadow of a case or perhaps more. But the real issue is much more than that. And the protest originates actually, not with those who find meat rationing difficult, but with those who are conscious of the restrictions on war pressures and feel an unreasoning impatience with all forms of wartime restraint.

It is not hard to be thoroughly sympathetic with the butchers. They understand very well the feelings of housewives. And not one of us has not experienced an aggravated annoyance with those restrictions on food which have originated in wartime and still go on.

But the economic policy of the country cannot be based on emotional or emotional protest. It must be based on facts. Facts must contribute to the greatest good of the greatest number. And this is the single point to be insisted on.

—That all wartime economic controls were established to prevent post-war inflation and post-war conflict. They all led up to this very thing. The crucial point in their operation was not during wartime, but right now. And if they are abandoned at this point, all the wartime annoyances and restrictions will be wantonly wasted.

In other words, if economic controls were necessary during wartime they are doubly or even more necessary when the public will towards patriotic cooperation is naturally and inevitably weakened.

If the clearly understandable protests against meat rationing affected meat rationing, the situation would not be so serious. But a blow against one control is a blow against all controls.

Can Canada afford, at this stage, to begin tearing down the control structure through impatience or even justifiable irritation?

Radio License Fee

A plea for the abolition of the annual radio license fee was made at a meeting of the house of commons by Park Manross, Progressive Conservative member for London, Ontario.

The argument has been advanced by The Edmonton Bulletin for the past several years.

The radio license fee was established when the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was set up as a non-commercial organization. The money was to be used to operate the network and to develop sustaining programs of high merit.

Politically, it was only, Hiley said, a device to keep the CBC from becoming an advertising medium. Advertising is its chief business. And the number of sustaining programs of high merit it puts on the air can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The position, then, is briefly this: that the radio-owners of Canada are asked to contribute $2.50 apiece every year towards the support of a state enterprise in competition with private enterprise.

And this state enterprise, the recipient of fabulous advertising fees and falling in line with the financial sector, has cost those who have low incomes, has cost Canada hundreds of millions in real wealth annually.

The weight of taxation is choking out small town industry and especially family businesses at a pitiful rate. The big fellows in the financial sector are getting their share in bargain prices. And the only way the present owners can get enough cash on hand to pay estate and succession taxes is to sell out, thus passing the family industries, which have long been the backbone of the country, are rapidly passing into the hands of speculators—a fatal blow.

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is grabbing for itself all the advantages of both state ownership and private ownership.

And at the same time demands the public tribute of these annual license fees.

No wonder protests are in parliament.

Two examples of inter-faith co-operation marked the celebration of Rosh Hashonah by Jews in Washington.

Also in 1845, Bishop Mountain of Quebec, made an episcopal visit to the Canadian Northwest for the purpose of organizing and developing work among the Indians. This work had been previously started and carried on by missionary societies of the Church of England. Bishop Mountain's visit marked the beginning of missionary work by the Church of England in Canada. In 1848, the Episcopalians sent to the Canadian Northwest the "Missionary Society of the Canadian Methodist Church" as its first missionary to the Indians of Western Canada.

SAME STATEMENTS

Questions before resumption of the debate brought the following statements:

1. State Secretary Paul Martin said Canada will revert to standard time at 2 a.m. local time, Sept. 30.
2. Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the question of the trial of Japanese war criminals now is under consideration by the nations which participated in the Pacific war.
3. Finance Minister Tully said there may be some possibility of an adjustment of coupon values or something like that for meat trimmings that are usually processed into sausage, bologna and canned meats.

The government of Canada, far from being caught flat-footed by its plan for reconversion, presented in the week of the atomic bomb and the Russian declaration of war its post-war proposals to the provinces, said Mr. Claxton.

HAVE CONFIDENCE

Recognize this, that the celebration of victory over Japan took place on Aug. 15, a month ago Saturday and that the surrender of Japan took place on Sept. 2, two weeks ago Friday. When we consider that and then look at the problems of demobilization, reconversion and get the facts as they will be developed in this hour, the Canadian people will not have cause for anything but confidence in the future.

"From the point of view of demobilization, I may say—and this is a fact that very few Canadians appreciate—that we have demobilized something like 60,000 men and women of the armed services since the outbreak of war. We know what we are doing here, have demobilized 100,000 since VE-Day, May 8.

"From the point of view of housing, this house will receive assurance that every house is being planned and built, that there are materials to plan and build for. And from the point of view of reconversion I think the relevant figures of employment as they will be brought before the house will show that we are as far advanced as any country in the world today if not farther."

THREE OBJECTIVES

The proposals presented to the Dominion Provincial preliminary conference last month had three main objectives:

- The first is humanitarian, giving the Canadian men, women and children a better chance for health and welfare and security than they ever had.
- The second is economic, intended to provide purchasing power which will provide a steady flow of funds with which the Canadian people can purchase the things they need to help to maintain employment and national income.
- "And third, they are national. They deal with the Canadian people

FIRE CAUSES $25,000,000 DAMAGE—Planes engulfed and threatened to topple them as fire in Kaiser Oregon shipyard, Portland, burns six newly-completed ships causing a damage of $25,000,000. Two casualties were reported. Fire is believed to have started from sparks from a welder's outfit.

as the people of a nation, and they treat every one alike."

Maj. Fulton, boyish-looking veteran of the Second Great War, making his maiden speech, said that the sort of action which characterized the government's manpower policy during the war now would not be tolerated by the people.

MEN OVERWORKED

He said that last November when Prime Minister King and Defence Minister McNaughton were claiming there were sufficient reinforcements, men overseas, particularly in Italy, were being overworked to the point of exhaustion because of the shortage of reinforcements.

"I ask honorable members not to forget the facts when accepting assurances or listening to promises of legislation or action by the prime minister and his government, when many members of the government today are the same men who sat there and made those statements in the House when men overseas were in deplorable need of reinforcements," said Maj. Fulton.

With the skill of a veteran member of the Commons, Maj. Fulton said the government's demobilization method was not working properly because of the muddled manpower policies during wartime.

The former Rhodes scholar, who delivered part of his speech in French, said there is a situation overseas in which there will be nothing but high point personnel, while there are back in Canada nothing but low point personnel with little or no overseas service.

PROPER COURSE

"The proper course would have been to keep the reinforcements steady, flowing, to keep men as they were called into the army or any of the armed forces in Canada proceeding overseas ready when necessary to replace casualties, and available to be inducted to take the place of men with two or three years' front line service," said Maj. Fulton.

"That, I submit, would have been the proper course, and then these old long service veterans could have been brought back in the same stream and would be back in Canada, ready to accept their discharge."

The government was claiming it had reprinted 120,000 men, but some 60,000 of these were low point men who had volunteered for the Pacific.

The Progressive Conservative Party felt that the government had forfeited the confidence of the people with respect to reconversion.

"It is all very well for the prime minister and certain other ministers to sit over there and shake with laughter and scoff and say: Oh, but we won an election three months ago. When you mention these things you really must be waiting our time because after we won the election three months ago."

CLAIMS HYPOCRISY

"I rather feel that attitude smacks of hypocrisy, when we consider that at the very moment there was in this House of Commons a labor delegation some hundred strong who were here because they did not have confidence in the government, and because they were out of work."

"They were not agitators, they were not bad citizens. They were just ordinary average Canadian citizens who had come up here to tell their government and to try to get some assurance that the jobs which they had been promised would actually be forthcoming."

Maj. Fulton said the reception of the labor delegation "was typical of the state of affairs in the country today."

Mr. Claxton invited all members to take an active interest in the work of his new department.

Armed Bandit Robs Calgary Bank of $1,000

CALGARY, Sept. 15.—(CP)—A "nervous" bandit who herded five employees of the North Hill branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia into a vault at noon Friday, escaping with "just under $1,000" was the object of a province-wide police hunt last night.

The man entered the bank about 12:25 p.m., only 10 minutes after City Det.-Sgt. Larry Partridge had cashed his cheque there, and walked straight to the teller's cage. There were no customers in the bank and no employees other than the teller and a clerk.

"Don't move," he told Mrs. Veronica Polanski in the teller's cage.

GIRL SCREAMS

She screamed and he moved back toward the door, stopping at a counter just opposite Accountant W. J. Buckley's desk.

Holding his black automatic pistol pointed at Buckley and the general direction of the four women employees, "he climbed over the counter and threatened to shoot us," said Mr. Buckley.

"It sounds funny now, but he said 'don't any of you move or I'll shoot you right through the heart.' I don't know what he meant by that last part," Mr. Buckley said.

"Then he told us all to get in the vault," continued Mr. Buckley. It also is on the east end of the bank. With the door facing west.

Mr. Polanski was in her cage and he motioned her to come out with the rest of us. When she came to the door she slipped behind her and it has a Yale lock. He forced her to open it, and then all of us went into the vault.

TOLD TO WAIT

"He told us to stay there for five minutes," said Mr. Buckley.

"I heard a door slam, apparently the teller's cage, and then a drawer," Mr. Buckley did not hear the bandit leave the bank. He and the women left the vault in about five minutes, and the bandit had disappeared. They immediately telephoned police, who arrived on motorcycles and in prowler cars minutes later. They threw a cordon around the bank. They failed to find the robber.

Neither police nor the bank employees knew whether the robber had an accomplice, and while they believe he was on his escape in a car not even this is certain.

He entered the bank alone with a grey sedan which had pulled down low over his forehead, but "made no attempt to conceal his face," said the bank employee.

Australians Take No Pains Handling Forces Of Japan

SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 15.—(CP)—The Japanese got nowhere with their plea for special treatment when they surrendered on Thursday at Wewak, New Guinea, to the Australian 6th Division.

"Your soldiers have carried their arms to the fight, and they will bring them out," said Col. J. A. Bishop, senior staff officer of the division. When Japanese officers complained that their soldiers were physically unfit to bring their arms from the hills to concentration points on the coast.

To complaints of short rations, he said:

"We have just got back 6,000 prisoners-of-war from Singapore, starved and dying. We do not want to be told how ration arrangements are to be carried out. I don't want to hear more argument about rations."

DISCHARGED PERSONNEL MAY RETURN TO OLD JOBS

Employer must Reinstatement where Employee Follows Act

The Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, passed by Parliament in 1942, sets forth conditions under which employers must reinstate their former employees in their employment after discharge from the Armed Services.

This Act and its Regulations are administered by the Dominion Minister of Labour, through the National Employment Service. Reinstatement Officers are available in the National Employment Offices to answer all inquiries, and to assist in adjusting cases.

Veterans and employers are both co-operating most effectively, to carry out the intent of this legislation.

The general terms of the Act and Regulations are here set forth briefly. For details, contact the nearest National Employment Office.

WHO MUST BE REINSTATED? Any employee, either male or female, who left employment to join the Armed Services, the Merchant Marine, or the Fire Fighters Corps—providing that the employee was working for the employer for at least three months immediately before enlistment, and was not replacing some other employee who has been reinstated.

HOW AND WHEN DOES A DISCHARGED PERSON CLAIM REINSTATEMENT? Either verbally or in writing, usually within three months of discharge in Canada or four months if discharged overseas. There is provision for extension of this time when through a condition of health the employee cannot return to his employment this soon, but the employer must be notified in three or four months, and a Reinstatement Officer should be consulted.

UNDER WHAT WORKING CONDITIONS IS AN EMPLOYEE TO BE REINSTATED? Under conditions not less favourable than would have been enjoyed had he continued on in employment instead of joining the Forces. This means:

- (a) that the period with the Services is to count for seniority rights, pension rights, vacations with pay and other benefits;
- (b) returning employees are to be given promotions or pay increases they would have received had they remained in continuous employment;
- (c) any skill acquired while in the Services, and useful to the employer, is to be taken into account in adjusting the wage rates;
- (d) any period of mental or physical disability following discharge, which warrants delay in reinstatement under the Act, is to be counted as a period of service in the Armed Services, and as a period of service with the employer.

DOES THEATRE OF SERVICE AFFECT RIGHTS? No—where a veteran served does not alter reinstatement rights.

WHAT IF A DISCHARGED PERSON CANNOT PERFORM HIS FORMER DUTIES? The employer must reinstate him in the most suitable employment available, at which he is capable of working.

WHAT OF THE DISCHARGED PERSON WHO LEFT A JOB PREVIOUSLY VACATED BY ANOTHER WHO ENLISTED? The replacement is entitled to reinstatement only if no other person who enlisted out of the job has been reinstated.

MAY AN EMPLOYER DISMISS A PERSON ONCE REINSTATED? No—if the employer dismisses within six months, he must be able to prove in court that he had reasonable cause.

In every Office of the National Employment Service staff members have been given special training to equip them to better assist veterans in search of employment. All ex-servicemen and women are urged to use the facilities of the National Employment Service if looking for work.

The Bulletin's SPORTS SHOW

by Hal Dean

UNLESS the current provincial final series between Vank and Currie Army goes beyond the three games scheduled for Calgary this week-end, the trip of exhibition affairs with Fort Richardson, Alaska and U.S. Signals today and Sunday will ring the curtain down on baseball at Rentfrew Park this season.

A total of 150 current league, exhibition and playoff games and one junior fixture have been played in the ball yard since May 1st, and Bill Harris has had extra short really lucky days in the old carpet bag ready for a well-learned hand at the west coast. Bill says he'll be away just long enough to get reminded of hockey matters.

Jack Hand of the AP reminds that the big series of 1942 is as hard as Detroit hits. Washington for a five-game series which should settle the American League winner. There's a doubleheader today.

It's either the Tigers or the Senators who trail the leaders by just half game, can sweep the series of four, the race would eventually be about even. In 17 previous seasons, the knock-out pitching staff of the amazing Senators has been able to throttle the Tiger power in times, while losing seven.

DOWN-FIELD BLOCKING
CLARE HOLINGSWORTH, Army and Navy Pats had a long job to get there, eventually landing in first place in the Senior Football League. The team is made up of players from the University of Regina and the Regina Pats.

John Easton, vice-president of the Edmonton Junior Hockey League, has come up with a new plan that provides for downfield blocking on kicks and kick-offs was played at the annual meeting of the Alberta Rugby Football Union in Calgary last week-end. The players are understood to be making use of the extended rule and no doubt will try it during games with Edmonton this year.

Resumption of Macdonald Junior curling next winter which was announced on Friday should mean a real boost in interest in the sport. Alberta British Columbia next season. Doubtless Cliff Manahan's current year's Golden Bears will be a good team.

MAURY VAN VLIET, new athletic director at the University of Alberta, will have his first glimpse of potential material for the current year's Golden Bears on Monday afternoon. The first practice has been called for Varsity football on Monday night.

Jack Carney, third baseman for Dodgers, is leaving in a few days for University of Southern California to get there, eventually landing in first place in the Senior Football League. The team is made up of players from the University of Regina and the Regina Pats.

Equipment In Sight

Junior Football Season Will Commence Sept. 25

By CECIL GOLDSTICK
Junior football pessimists, who, too, coached pre-season predictions of gridiron operations here this fall, were counted out last night when officials announced that the season will start on the 25th of this month. If arrangements are completed today with Maury Van Vliet, newly appointed athletic director at the University of Alberta, the first game will be against the collegians at Clarke Stadium.

Final pitch in the football set-up, the problem of obtaining sufficient equipment, has been overcome, officials reported, and all players taking the field will be completely outfitted.

John Easton, vice-president of the Edmonton Junior Hockey League and a representative of the A.P.U., arrived back town last night after a lengthy business trip. He, George Snowden and Ken Henry, who have been in the city for some time, will be in charge of the league's operations.

SERIES OF GAMES
This has eased the pressure and, in addition, is particularly gratifying to the fans who have been trying to solve the big problem. The equipment problem is now solved.

We have a series of games lined up and getting Varsity to play as the first game. It is a very important game for the league.

Harvey M. Marples of Swift's has been named president of the Edmonton Junior Hockey League. He will be in charge of the league's operations.

A draft schedule will be submitted to the representatives of the four clubs just as soon as the arrangements with the A.P.U. are completed. It is anticipated a doubleheader will be played one night each week, the same as last year.

A playoff at the end of the regular season will be played for the championship. The winner will be crowned champion.

Fort Richardson, Alaska, will play three baseball games with U.S. Signals during the weekend, the first being scheduled for 6 o'clock this evening. Tomorrow's doubleheader will commence at 1:30 p.m.

For 5 Tilts

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Detroit Tigers predicted that the American League lead with a 3-0 victory over the Athletics Friday, showing another lucky run on a sequence play by Bob Maier in the fifth inning just before rain washed out the game.

As a result, manager Steve O'Neill's hirings gained an even better in the four-game series and official Washington assured of the leader's role when they tangle with the speedy Senators today in the first two bouts of their crucial five-game series.

So violently did catcher Rudy Roemer of the Athletics protest Maier's game-winning run that he was ejected from the showers by plate umpire Art Passavolta. The official scorer, plastered Rudy with a fine for trying to plant the ball in the middle of Maier's back.

Up to the faithful fifth it had been a sparkling pitchers duel between Maier and Maier of the Tigers and Dickey Fowler, who delivered a no-hit, no-run effort against St. Louis Browns in the fourth inning.

Bessie McAvoy, ladies' open singles champion, combined with Betty Hall to win the ladies' open doubles title in the city tennis tournament at Glenora courts.

The Civil Service Club played a driving game in the final Friday evening to defeat Helen Wolff and Sophie McPhail, another Civil Service combination, 4-2 for the championship.

The title-holders held the upper hand throughout the best of three sets and served to give too much opposition by their clubmates.

In the mixed open doubles, the only other open competition, all to be completed, Harry Kinloch and Joseph MacKay, and Gordon MacKay and Joseph MacKay, were defeated in one set.

Swift's Leading In Intermediate Fastball Final

Swift's won one game up in the city men's intermediate fastball final by defeating Canada Packers 12-9 in the first game of the set of five series last night at Boyle Street Park.

Henry Hoffmann, on the mound for the winners, turned in a nice exhibition of hurling. He showed signs of weakening with his control at times, especially in the last frame when he walked four men in a row as the Packers threatened with a four-run rally. The hard working chucker struck out 12 men and gave up a total of five hits for the night.

Henry Hoffmann for Swift's were Bill Milson with a homer in the fifth with one out, and the fifth with none on, Colin Kilburn with a home run in the fourth with one out, and Harry Crockett with a triple in the seventh with one out. Art Delmer with a two bagger in the fifth with two on and a home run in the fifth with one out and Henry Hoffmann with a triple in the fifth with one out.

For the losers, Cliff Stady with a double in the fifth with the bag and Walter Stady with a double in the fifth with one out and Walter Stady with a double in the fifth with one out.

Vegetables Keep Well In Shallow Outdoor Pits

The shallow outdoor pits for growing vegetables are a new feature in the home garden. They are simple to construct and are very effective in keeping the soil warm and moist. The pits are made by digging a shallow trench in the ground, about 12 inches deep and 18 inches wide. The trench is then filled with a layer of straw or hay, and the vegetables are planted in the soil on top of the straw. The straw keeps the soil warm and moist, and the vegetables grow well.

Methods of growing vegetables in shallow outdoor pits are used, provided it is safe from freezing.

SPAIN'S MOST FAMOUS BULL-FIGHTER RISKS HIS LIFE, BUT HE'S WORTH MILLIONS AND NOW HE'S COMING TO MEXICO

On the horns of an enraged bull is Manuel Rodriguez, better known in Spanish arenas as "Manolete," and this is the place for even a matador—especially a matador who's made millions out of Spain's national sport.

He's down, is the famous Manolete, and the fierce bull is getting ready to make a second attack. It's a bad spot for the famous matador and the crowd fears a tragic end to a career which is the envy of every bullfighter.

Manolete, the most famous bullfighter in Spain, is coming to Mexico. The bullfighting season in Mexico is just beginning, and Manolete is expected to draw large crowds.

In hospital, Manolete recovers from injuries received when the bull trampled over him and remains for a few days. The bull was killed by a party of hunters.

BLUEBERRY JAM

SKIPPY the chipmunk told the Teenie Weenies that the blueberries were ripe and the little folks made arrangements at once to get a supply for canning. The Cowboy hired one of the respectable mice to pull the Teenie Weenie cart and made plans for an early start next morning for the berry patch.

Every Teenie Weenie was up at daylight and for once the sleepy-headed Dunce didn't have to be pulled out of bed. After a hearty breakfast of fried sliced hominy, doughnuts and sassafras tea the little folks loaded the cart with acorn baskets, a thimble, a big Teenie Weenie kettle and an English walnut shell basket to be filled with berries. The mouse was hitched to the cart and the Teenie Weenie women climbed in. The Dunce wanted to ride, too, but the General told him that the mouse had enough to pull without adding another Teenie Weenie to the load.

The little people found plenty of berries. It didn't take them long to fill all the containers they had brought, and well before lunchtime they were back in the Teenie Weenie village with a cartload of ripe berries.

"We might just as well get to work canning these berries," announced the Cook as he glanced at the heap of berries the men had carried into the kitchen. The Teenie Weenie women, who always helped with the canning, agreed with the Cook.

Some of the men brought out all the Teenie Weenie fruit jars they could find. These little six and ten-drop jars the Teenie Weenies had made from clay. They had neat little lids which were fitted on and sealed with wax when the jars were filled with fruit. "Oh, dear!" exclaimed the Lady of Fashion as she dropped two soap flakes into the top of a small baking powder can which she used for washing the fruit jars. "We ought to have some wintergreen berries to put into the jam."

"It's too late now," said the Cook, putting the first kettle of jam onto the Teenie Weenie stove.

Skippy the chipmunk, standing outside near the kitchen door, heard what had been said. He bounded off at top speed. In a short time he returned and wiggled his head through the kitchen door. He opened his mouth and 10 wintergreen berries fell out of his cheek pouches onto the floor. That pleased the little folks, for blueberry jam is much tastier when it has wintergreen berries cooked with it.

It was mighty late that night before the last jar was filled. The Cook and the women were very tired but they were also happy because they had put up 111 drops of jam.
